BREED DESCRIPTION

The Breed Description starts from the premise that the role of the Texel Breed in NZ is to be not only a superior terminal sire for high quality lamb meat but also as a sire of crossbred daughters suited to a wide range of environment as highly efficient dual purpose dams.

This Breed Description incorporates the classification guidelines used by the British Texel Society in their Elite Red Star Ram assessment programme.

The New Zealand Texel Breed Description

Head

The Texel has a distinctive head type which is useful when identifying progeny. The length of head from crown to nose is approximately one and a half times the width, nose profile straight or slightly dished, muzzle wide, nostrils flared and black. Eyes bold with dark eyelid pigment. The short fine hair covering head should be soft and white. Lower jaw should be well developed with incisor teeth meeting pad at right angles, neither undershot or overshot. Ears of short to medium size set to give alert appearance. Some black spots on ears permissible but not desirable. Horns not permissible.

Avoid:

- *Large coarse heads, wide between eyes.
- *Pink noses and thin pink ears.
- *Black spots on face or head
- *Brown face hair
- *Stretched or excessively short neck

Shoulders and Chest

Shoulders should be flat on top and no wider than the rib cage. Chest clean of heavy brisket to give wedge shaped underline.

Avoid:

- *Heavy open shoulders
- *Narrow tent shaped shoulders
- *Pronounced brisket

Body Length

The aim should be for a body length which gives balanced proportions to the sheep with level back and well sprung ribs.

Avoid:

- *Slackness behind the shoulders
- *Long narrow body

Depth and Width of Loin

The loin should be as wide and deep as possible with the eye muscle maintaining width forward to the shoulder.

Gigot (Hams)

The gigot should be as wide and firm as possible with deep solid muscling down almost to the hock. This gives a football shaped appearance to the gigot with a high volume of firm lean meat and well defined muscle groups without a hint of fat.

Hind Quarter

Area between top of haunch bone and tail head should be as long and wide as proportionately possible and deeply fleshed with accentuated muscling.

Legs and Feet

The legs should be proportionate to carrying a muscular body with wool not extending below hock or knee and remainder of legs covered with fine white hair. Back legs should be well sprung from the hock, pasterns have only slight spring and feet with hard black horn and even oval toes meeting the ground squarely.

Avoid:

- *Coarse short cannon bones as short cannon bones have proved to be an indication of small pelvic opening and birth difficulties.
- *Bowed front legs
- *Low weak pasterns
- *Straight back hocks
- *Bandy hocks or skewed pasterns
- *Cow hocks
- *Pigeon toes
- *Brown leg hair

Udders in Ewes

Udders should be carried high with medium sized teats pointing forward.

Testicles in Rams

Avoid using rams with uneven undersized or soft flabby testicles.

Wool

Purebred Texel wool should fall in the 28 to 35 micron range of fibre diameter. Fleece dense with blocky tip and high bulk around 30cm³/g. The wool should be of good colour with low lustre and well defined crimp and staple formation. Black wool spots on body not permissible.

Avoid:

*Hairiness, medullation, hairy tipped and hairy britched fleeces.

*Kemp fibres in fleece

*Black or brown fibres in fleece and dark skin spots on body which may throw black fibres during times of stress.

*Weak backs, mushy and poorly crimped fleeces which are prone to fleece rot and discoloration.

*Fine end and fining off fleeces which are subject to peeling from neck, belly and points.

APPENDIX FLOCKS

The grading up code be as follows –

D – ½ bred C – ¾ bred B – 7/8th

Basic ewe * stud ram = D ½ bred

D * stud ram = C ¾ bred

C * stud ram = B 7/8th

B * stud ram = A 15/16th

A graded up ewe can used in a registered flock once the ewe has reached 7/8ths. A graded up ram requires a further generation and can be used in a registered flock once 15/16th is reached.

For registered Texel flocks introducing new genetic material using other than registered Texel sires, full performance recording is required and the ensuing progeny have to be graded back to reach 88% Texel purity to regain full registration with Texel New Zealand.

MICROPTHALMIA

Microphthalmia - this is a recessive gene disorder in which the lambs are born blind. It occurs when a lamb inherits from both parents damaged copies of a gene needed for eye development. An animal inheriting a damaged gene from only one parent is termed a 'carrier'.

I-Scan & Vision Test - these tests identify animals that carry the damaged gene causing the microphthalmia disorder, or animals at risk.

MICROPTHALMIA RULES

- 1) All rams that are single entered be tested for Microphthalmia, either before or during the year they are single entered
- 2) If a ram that has been tested positive during the year the ram can be registered, but the breeder would have to accept that the progeny be culled, or tested at the first available test run.
- 3) Export of Genetic Material - all dams & sires providing genetic material for export must either be (i-SCAN^{CL_R}) or (Vision^{CL_R})

TEXEL

MC – denotes those DNA tested clear studs for Microphthalmia when all sheep in the stud have been tested clear.

That a sire from a (MC) stud does not require to be DNA tested for Microphthalmia.

(TP) – (Tested Pedigree) – denotes those sheep bred from DNA Tested Clear Parents from a Clear Stud. (MC)

Directions For The Reader

(i-SCAN^{CLB}) refers to those DNA tested clear sheep for microphthalmia from the testing facility at Zoetis.

(CdT) refers to the cold tolerance score

(MC) refers to those DNA tested clear sheep for microphthalmia in the Australian Texel Flock Book & NZ Flock Book.

(Vision^{CLB}) refers to those DNA tested clear sheep for microphthalmia from the testing facility at Lincoln University
